this is the first project by portuguese architect lvaro siza built in brazilian territory and was honoured by the venice architecture biennale with the golden lion award in 2002.